Summary of CV

This section describes briefly a summary of your career in science, academic and research; the main scientific and technological achievements and goals in your line of research in the medium -and long- term. It also includes other important aspects or peculiarities.

My research focuses on the evolutionary understanding of the processes underlying variation in phenotypic and life-history traits. I have mainly investigated issues related to sexual selection (mate choice, social and genetic mating strategies, and evolution of sexually selected traits). However, convinced that scientists must expand the frontiers of the knowledge but also find solutions to the problems our societies face, in the last years, I have expanded my research to investigate individual and population responses to environmental changes, with a particular focus on climate change. Further, I have frequently implemented my expertise to address relevant applied ecology and conservation questions.

I developed my undergraduate thesis with Dr Göran Arnqvist's (Citations=18K, h=60) at Uppsala University (Sweden) and published my first article (Behav. Ecol.). After my graduation as a Biologist (University of Alcalá, Spain, 2004), I was awarded a pre-doctoral I3P grant from the Spanish National Research Council (CSIC) to develop my PhD with Dr Jaime Potti (Citations=6K, h=46). Using the pied flycatcher (Ficedula hypoleuca) as the model species, I investigated the adaptiveness of different mating strategies and the impact of individual genetic diversity on fitness, which resulted in high profile publications (Heredity, J. Evol. Biol., Behav. Ecol., Behav. Ecol. Sociobiol). During this period, I improved bird capturing, got fieldwork design and data collection skills and learned the basis of DNA genotyping techniques and specific software for genetic analyses. I also carried two stays at the Research Institute of Hunting Resources (IREC, Spain) and the Center for the Study and Conservation of Birds of Prey in Argentina (CECARA). I have also enjoyed several post-doc positions and contracts in Spain and abroad, including positions with the research groups led by outstanding researchers such as 1) Dr Paola Laiolo (UMIB, Spain; Citations=3K, h=33) and 2) Dr Laszlo Garamszegi (EBD, Spain; Citations=8K, h=54). These positions allowed me to extend my research into new evolutionary topics such as song evolution, coevolution of parasite-hosts (Behav. Ecol, Mol. Ecol.). My postdoctoral positions with 3) Dr Miguel Ferrer (EBD, Spain; Citations=8K, h=52), framed within a European project, 4) at the National Research Council (CONICET, Argentina) offered me the opportunity to further develop my research line in conservation biology (Conserv. Genet, PLOS One, Biodivers. Conserv., 2 book chapters) while 5) the MTA-Premium fellowship (the most prestigious post-doc in Hungary), at the Centre for Ecological Research, boosted my work on the behavioural and genetic responses of individuals to environmental changes (Sci, Rep., Evolution) leading my own project. I have recently obtained a highly competitive grant of "Attraction of Research Talent (Community of Madrid)" to incorporate to MNCN-CSIC. Overall, I have been affiliated with centres from 4 countries and have spent more than 5 years in foreign centres, which has allowed me to gain remarkable (inter)national experience and establish an exceptional network of collaborators.

I have published 54 scientific articles (5 more under review) in SCI journals, 44 of them in Q1, which have received 1301 citations (Google Scholar; h-Index = 21). In 25 of these publications, I was the first (18) or last (7) author. I have participated in 18 (inter)national research projects, all awarded in competitive calls, 6 of them funded by foreign entities and/or carried out only with foreign researchers. I was PI in 5 out of the 18 projects, summarising a total funding of ca. 391.000 euros as PI. These facts prove my leadership, independent thinking and fund acquisition capacity.

I committed to disseminating my research output and transferring my knowledge.

Thus, I have made 45 contributions to (inter)national conferences and published two book chapters and several articles for the general public. My work has received attention from the media, including newspapers and radio interviews, in different countries (e.g., USA, Spain, Hungary). I have supervised 20 (8 Bachelor's, 11 Master's, 1 JAE Intro), students, one post doc and started to supervise a PhD student (2024). I have been a member of tribunals evaluating theses and Master's theses (2019-2024) and an Honorary Collaborator at the University of Cordoba (2020-2022). I have reviewed R&D projects for the European Union (Marie Skłodowska-Curie fellowships), Spanish National Research Plan and Polish Academy of Sciences and >50 papers in SCI journals and I am an associated editor in 3 SCI journals (IBIS, Animal Biodiversity and Conservation, El Hornero).
